The Beecher-Tilton Scandal.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Theodore Tilton publishes in the Golden Age this afternoon a seven column article touching the Beecher scandal and in defense of himself from the charge of Rev. Leonard Bacon, a member of the late Brooklyn Council, that Tilton has been a cowardly slanderer whom magnanimity has saved from disgraceful exposure. He says that having suffered in silence for four years from this and similar misrepresentations adroitly put out to the public by Plymouth Church, neither pastor nor duty will permit him longer to conceal the actual facts from the public. He then goes on to say he has never slandered Beecher, but on the contrary has sacrificed his own reputation to suppress the truth about him, and that he never has refused to appear before the Church and answer all questions regarding the scandal that might be put to him. He gives his reasons for severing his connection with the church as follows: "After I had been for fifteen years a member of Plymouth Church, and had become meanwhile an intimate of the pastor, the knowledge came to me in 1870 that he had committed against me an offense which I forbear to name or characterize, prompted by my self respect. I immediately and forever ceased my attendance upon his ministry." Tilton publishes the following as an extract from a document signed by Mr. Beecher:

BROOKLYN, Jan. 1, 1871.—I ask Theodore Tilton's forgiveness and humble myself before him as I am before my God. He would have been a better man in my circumstances than I have been. I can ask nothing except that he will remember all the other hearts that would ache. I will not plead for myself. I even wish that I were dead.

(Signed) H. W. BEECHER.

Ice and Fire.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The ice houses and stable of the Knickerbocker Ice Company were burned to-night; sixty horses, together with a large amount of other property, were destroyed. Loss over $100,000.

The Anti-Monopolists.

CHICAGO, June 24.—The Iowa Anti Monopoly Convention met yesterday. Dr. E. A. Gilbert, of Ottumwa, was elected President. Full attendance from all parts of the State. The resolutions condemn the administration for extravagance and interfering in the policy of several of the States; favor [illegible] for President; that railroads be regulated by State laws; that taxation shall be for revenue; that the patent laws be so amended as to destroy the monopoly of agricultural implements and other labor saving machines.

Erie Debt.

NEW YORK, June 25.—At a meeting of the Board of Erie Directors to-day the Treasurer reported that the total amount of floating debt, including secured debt, was $2,[illegible], a decrease the past month of $[illegible].

Little and Heuston, the former Auditor of the Northern Central Railroad and the latter Auditor of the New York and Oswego Midland Railroad, report that they have been making an examination of the companies' books at the time Dunan, the Auditor, left, and they state that after a careful examination of Dunan's books, that his report as to the floating debt of the company on the 27th of February was incorrect to the extent of over $3,000,000, and that the report of the Examination Committee was correct, except that one of the committee understated the floating debt as it then existed by over $100,000.

THE DIFFICULTY WITH JUPITER.

There seems to be some trouble in the planetary system. The first three satellites of Jupiter are having a family disturbance. It is barely possible that the ring which has its habitation close to Saturn may have been watching the successful progress of some of our New York rings and is trying to get control of the supply of light and gravitation among the celestial bodies. At any rate there is a general muss up there somewhere, and it is proposed by some of the enterprising journalists to hire Jules Verne's cannon and send three or four reporters to find out what the trouble is. Although up to this present writing no volunteers for this aerial cruise have reported themselves, there will undoubtedly be as many as the projectile will hold when the hour arrives to start. They will probably buy tickets "to Jupiter via the moon," in order to interview that luminary, which has been somewhat coquettish of late. They will come back. Well, the precise route has not yet been determined. It just occurs to us to say that the old story about the morning stars singing together seems to be somewhat threadbare. They may have exercised their voices when somewhat younger in a kind of family chorus, but of late years, if science is to be trusted, they have had disturbances up above which show plainly enough that there is a species of physical rebellion going on. They do not regard themselves as amenable to the common law of gravitation, but in the asteroid zone at least, they are flying about at random and putting themselves into such out-of-the-way places that our astronomers, who are a sort of planetary police and detective force, are kept on the alert all the time. Once in a while a large corner of something gets chipped off and goes kiting round the heavens, much after the fashion of a New York boy whose uncle has just died and left him a million, leaving a shining track behind it for a while and then ending like any other burned out cinder. Now, whatever might have been expected of these youthful asteroids, which seem to be still sowing their wild oats, and which show no intention of settling down to the steady business of giving light and of traveling with the staid and dignified gait of some of the larger planets, we cannot refrain from expressing our surprise that the satellites of the paternal lighthouse keeper, quiet old Jupiter, should have such a roystering tendency. We have always looked upon that family as well brought up, and supposed they would be always well behaved. But it seems the old [illegible] about steady old fashioned fathers and [illegible] boys is just as true a few miles up as this [illegible]. It is to be hoped that the quarrel will not be of lasting duration, and that scientists will report ere long that these lively satellites have settled down to steady business.

Two Indians are under arrest at Salem as being implicated in some way in the murder of Conrad Warner, though many citizens of that place seem to think there is but little evidence connecting the two Indians with the tragedy. The Sheriff of Marion county went to Salem early this week and arrested a man [illegible], who, it seems now, could not have been cognizant of the affair, and so the mystery remains as profound as ever.

SLANDERS.—It is not high crimes, such as robbery and murder, which destroy the peace of society. The village gossip, family quarrels, jealousies and bickerings between neighbors, meddlesomeness, and tattling are the worms which eat into all social happiness.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Thousands of people have already gone to Woodward's gardens to attend the Sunday school picnic, and every car on all the lines to that locality is crowded with women and children. Sixty Sunday schools are attending, and the exercises promise to be of great interest to the little ones. Over 12,000 people will attend.

It further predicts general stagnation in all classes of business should the temperance people win.

During a picnic some scoundrel attempted to commit a rape on the person of a little girl ten years of age, but was discovered in the act and fled, pursued by several men. Unfortunately he escaped in the crowd and could not afterwards be found.

Abner Gentry preferred charges to-day before the Police Commissioners against Alfred Clarke, clerk of the Chief of Police, accusing him of having in September last, while an officer on the force, dealt in warrants for policemen's pay. The Commissioners refused to entertain the charges, for the reason that the acts complained of were committed before the present administration, and therefore could not be investigated by them. Mr. Gentry was advised that as the acts complained of by him would amount to felony, it was his duty to lay the matter before the grand jury.

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—A petition with the requisite number of signatures has been filed with the County Clerk, addressed to the Board of Supervisors, praying for an election in the town of Wilmington under the provisions of the local option law.

NEVADA.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, June 25.—A serious and fatal affair took place near here a few days since. A rancher named Calvin Crippen got into an argument about some trivial matter with one of his employes, named Frank Hellan, and hard words ensued, the termination of which was a bloody fight with weapons, Crippen having a six shooter and Hellan a large knife. During the fight Crippen fired six times, shooting Hellan through the groin. Crippen was stabbed eleven times and cut in a terrible way, from the effects of which he died yesterday morning. He was an old man and a much respected resident of this vicinity, and also an old California pioneer. Frank Hellan is badly hurt, and is now under arrest to stand examination. Crippen was buried to-day.

Minute guns will be fired as a salute to each boat as it arrives, on the departure of the train, at all railroad stations, etc. The bands will discourse music at all stations and at intervals during the day.

All are cordially invited to come and unite with us in celebrating this national festival.

D. W. [illegible], Manager.

Information concerning the whereabouts of Mr. Thos. W. Gilchrist is sought for by his brother, Mr. John Gilchrist, of Holmes Harbor. He was last seen on his ranch on the Stillaguamish river about the 5th inst., and, being unwell, may have wandered off.

The towns on the Snohomish river, W. T., are improving, especially Lowell and Snohomish city, the former by the addition of a large hotel and several dwellings; the latter a gristmill, warehouse and several dwellings.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The ordinances regulating the liquor traffic in this city, recently passed by the Common Council, appear to [illegible] much comment and many apparent [illegible] to [illegible] such [illegible] for this [illegible] action. [illegible] appear that the Christian [illegible] called the Crusaders [illegible] in bringing about these results.

It is indeed refreshing that such sheets as the Bulletin and [illegible] should commit themselves to [illegible], making haste to give [illegible] praise for the enactment of the new ordinances. It is ready to suppose, however, that the [illegible] are [illegible]. It is the credit for [illegible] which the [illegible] have rendered [illegible] many [illegible] content [illegible] Christian women, who, under the highest possible sense of duty to the community, to their households and to God, have at last felt impelled to come from the hiding retirement of their homes, risking life and, like their Divine Master, willing to be made of no reputation in the estimation of both friend and foe, that they might if possible save their city from the fate of Sodom and their loved ones from manifold disgrace and death; such women, out on a mission not of Law but of Gospel, are not the ones to be unduly anxious about who shall have credit for this or that slight advance in the moral sentiment of the community. I think they would joyously greet every one as a welcome ally who by honest voice or deed should be found trying to promote the one common work of salvation.

But having no sympathy with any attempted robbery myself—whether such robbery is perpetrated upon Government or upon individuals, upon the highway or in a Custom House, [illegible] or in a liquor dealer's [illegible]—whether by the hand of the tribute taker or the hand of the pharisaist or the [illegible] utterance of a partisan editor, with this feeling of aversion to [illegible] honest [illegible], I desire to ask a few brief questions, and shall be grateful to any one for an early and truthful answer.

1st. If anybody [illegible] is to have credit for the enactment of good and wholesome laws, why not give the City Council the credit for the passage of the ordinances above referred to?

2d. Are not the Crusaders themselves disposed to give God the praise and the Council all due credit for this almost unanimous act on the part of the Council?

3d. Had anything effectual in the direction of these new ordinances been said or done in this city [illegible] before the Prayer League began its earnest street work?

4th. Would the honored members of the "Ladies Temperance Alliance" be willing to claim that they compelled the passage of the new ordinances, when in fact the matter was before the City Council and in the hands of the Judiciary Committee for weeks before their organization had an existence, and when their own masterly petition, which at last did appear, was so quietly tabled by the Council?

5th. Were not some ladies who belong [illegible] to the "Prayer League" or the "Alliance" very active in securing the signatures of hundreds of citizens asking for ordinances similar to those enacted? And did not this strong petition from the PEOPLE [illegible] direct cause lead to the recent action of the City Council?

HOLD THEM TO THEIR PROMISE.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

During the election canvass our outrageous fee bill occasioned a good deal of discussion and received the denunciation of all parties and persons except the officers who received the fees. Messrs. Caywood and Harris, who were prominent in the lobby at the last session, were defeated, but Mr. Murphy, the Clerk of Marion county, who was their active co-operator, just escapes defeat by the trading of his supporters, as is averred by his co-candidates. Since the election we have heard nothing upon the subject of the reduction of fees, and there is danger that little or nothing will be done in that respect by the incoming Legislature. The new board of officers of every degree, from sheriffs and clerks to coroners and constables, are interested in preventing the passage of a new [illegible] fee bill, and it will be no easy task to effect the reduction called for. It is a difficult matter to frame a new fee bill—requires peculiar information, and it may be doubtful if perchance a man has been returned to the Assembly entirely competent. If the army of officers can do no better they will doubtless fall back on the bill of 1870. But that must not be permitted. It is not the relief the people demand and are entitled to. Under that bill the offices of Sheriff and Clerk of Multnomah Co. will be worth from twelve to fifteen thousand dollars a year—the last sum more than likely. While the other officers in other counties and all the officers in all the counties would be proportionately overpaid. Under the existing law fees are more than three hundred per cent above reasonable rates. Under the law of 1870 they would have been more than two hundred per cent above fair rates. If no member takes the trouble to revise the fee bill and report a new one altogether, and the officers' lobby is successful in persuading the Legislature to return to the act of 1870, which [illegible] lobby prevented from going into effect, the fees provided for in that law should not be reduced less than one hundred per cent. One hundred and fifty or two hundred would be better, and still leave officers of every grade the best paid men in the State for the service they perform. And too there are some fees that should be abolished altogether. The service performed is unnecessary, or it is very slight and amply remunerated in other overpaid service. This class of fees have been ingeniously tucked in from time to time by the officers, till it would surprise one to hear how numerous they are. Many were added at the last session which had never before been incorporated in any fee bill. This feature should be carefully kept in mind in revising the law, and fees for all unnecessary or slight service abolished altogether. There is no fear of too much pruning in this particular, or of too great reduction of fees. The danger lies in the opposite direction. And in this behalf the people look to see the performance of the election redeem the promise before.

JUNE 25th, 1874. REFORM.

SHEPHERD AND THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—DISGUST AT BUTLER'S EXHIBITION IN CONGRESS.—A dispatch from Chicago of June 20, says: A Washington special says that there is pretty good authority for announcing that the President will name Alexander R. Shepherd, Frederick A. Sawyer, and Frederick Douglass to be Commissioners ad interim to govern the District of Columbia, with Lieutenant Hoxie as Engineer in charge of the streets and other improvements. The committee to whom will be assigned the duty of maturing a bill for a permanent form of government will undoubtedly consist of Senators Allison and Thurman and Representatives Wilson (Indiana) and Jewett.

Another dispatch says the debate in the House last night was an unparalleled performance. It was uncalled for by any exigency to the public service. Its only excuse was that Butler should defend himself and the Jayne and Sanborn people. It was quite apparent that he made not one friend, and while he gained some applause for his ready wit, the end of it was that the disgust and contempt held by the majority of the House for him was only intensified; the cause of Jayne and Sanborn was not helped, while the villainies and outrages sanctioned by the moieties, Sanborn law, and the despicable characters of the informers and spies were only shown up in stronger light than ever before, fully justifying the wisdom of the repeal of the laws by Congress.

CANNON.

It would puzzle [illegible] Cannon is [illegible] one of the knottiest and most perplexing questions that have presented themselves to Congress for many years. Cannon is the regularly elected Delegate from Utah, and a Mormon of absolutely unmistakable stripe so far as the polygamic practice goes. Cannon has no fewer than four wives. They do not form part of his traveling establishment. Whether out of deference to the prejudices of the Gentiles, or through economic dread of the cost of living at Washington in a boarding house, he has allowed the four Mrs. Cannons to remain at [illegible] while he attends to the interests of his constituents at the national capital. But ocular demonstration is not necessary to establish the fact of their existence. Trustworthy reports convey it to the ears of Congress, and the multi-married Delegate is [illegible] with which his home circle is adorned.

Whether the plurality of Cannon's conjugal relations be [illegible] perfectly well understood, it was the misfortune of Congress to assume a virtuous indignation and order immediate inquiry. We say misfortune, because from a period soon after the inquiry was started down to the current date Congress has been woefully puzzled as to what shall be done when the findings are reported. So far as the question of election is concerned, there seems little or no doubt that Cannon was as fairly and as fully chosen as the purest monogamist or the most inveterate old bachelor on the rolls either of House or Senate. The question then arises whether it is in place for his colleagues to go beyond this and beyond his public career and sit in judgment upon his family affairs.

There are numerous people who will avow themselves shocked that any question should be made about the matter at all, or that Congress should hesitate a moment on the propriety of expelling an avowed polygamist. But these, in order to comprehend the situation fully, must remember that there is a principle involved in Cannon's case which, if enforced on all occasions as strictly as it is proposed to enforce it on Cannon, would be apt to cause a startling number of vacancies in both legislative bodies. If Congress, going behind the mere matter of election, undertake to say with reference to the Delegate from Utah that certain breaches of law or morality committed by him prior to his appearance at Washington as the accredited representative of the Territory shall disqualify him, [illegible] it will be similarly [illegible] to establish an inquisition into the personal behavior of all other members when their private reputation is called into question. And suppose this rule is faithfully observed, what proportion of the Senators and Representatives can expect to come out of the ordeal wholly unscathed?

Take the case of John Hipple Mitchell, or John Mitchell Hipple, as at different places he has differently called himself. Senator Mitchell, or Senator Hipple, whichever the reader may please, is known to have been at one time a school teacher in Butler borough, this State, and while sojourning there to have formed an intrigue with a villager [illegible], which resulted in matrimony. Subsequently he deserted her, went out to Oregon, changed his name, married again, and was returned to the Senate last year. A cursory review of this succession of experiences shows that he violated law and morality in an even greater degree than Cannon, for though Cannon has four wives, whereas Mitchell only secured two, Cannon's course was judged by the Mormons, among whom he lived, moral enough, however offensive it is in our eyes, while Mitchell's course, however judged, can find not the shadow of excuse.

It is not particularly edifying to rake the ashes of affairs like these under no pretext. But if Congress resorts to the raking process in Cannon's case it will certainly appear invidious to avoid it in the others; and besides what has been mentioned, it would doubtless find without any very extraordinary research a great deal of similar material affecting other members just as strongly suggestive of the propriety of inquisition and expulsion. But we have no idea that Congress will expel Cannon on the score of polygamy. If the House Committee on Election, now considering the subject, find him duly chosen, his title to the seat will probably be confirmed; and the virtuous indignation of our National Legislature will discover vent in speeches against polygamy in the abstract when the bills for the better government of Utah are brought up, rather than in attacking polygamy in the concrete as exemplified under the very dome of the Capitol. The disgrace of Cannon's four wives will be borne rather than set going the wheels of a form of inquiry that would sadly mangle several Senators and Representatives more distinguished than Cannon.—Phila. Dispatch.

A TOUCHING MEMORIAL.

The Worcester (Mass.) Gazette says: Miss Emma V. Hallett, an admirer of the Smith sisters, visited them some months ago and took away a quantity of hair from the tails of their famous Alderneys. With this slight material, Mrs. Hallett, as a labor of love, has made two bouquets representing jasmine, daisies, cowslips and buttercups, each bunch being tied with streamers of black ribbons with the motto: "No Taxation without Representation." One bouquet sent to the sisters, and the other is for sale at a bazaar now open in Hartford. For this truly astonishing gift the grateful Smiths returned the following letter of thanks:

GLASTONBURY, June 8, 1874.

Our Dear Friend Miss Hallett:—How can we express our thanks to you for such a wonderful specimen of skill. We are sure this beautiful present ought to recompense us, if anything could, for the trial of seeing our pet Alderneys, without any fault of theirs (held in durance vile seven days), driven to the sign post to be sacrificed to the highest bidder.

ABBY SMITH AND SISTER.

If the Smiths had not had their cows bid in for them the sentiment would be even more touching.

From the Seattle Intelligencer: "A number of gentlemen from Portland have arrived at Mukilteo for the purpose of establishing an extensive fishery. They are now erecting buildings for that purpose on land rented from Col. Frost, and also intend to carry on the business of curing and canning salmon on a large scale. May success attend their efforts."

Several fine blooded horses arrived by the steamship John L. Stephens, for Ben Holladay. They are to be taken to the seaside. The lot consists of three stallions and four blooded mares, purchased from among the best stock of the Atlantic side.

At a regular meeting of Chemeketa Lodge No. 1, held at their hall in Salem last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: I. Cheesebrough, N. G.; J. M. Patterson, V. G.; Ed. Hirsch, R. S.; J. G. Wright, Treas.; Jos. Meyer, P. S.

The following persons were elected last evening as officers of Willamette Encampment No. 2, I. O. O. F., of Salem, for the ensuing term: G. H. Chance, C. P.; T. M. Gatch, H. P.; H. H. Gilfry, S. W.; J. A. Baker, Scribe; G. W. Jordan, Treasurer; J. W. Jordan, J. W.

The Alumni Association of the Willamette University elected officers for the ensuing year at the meeting last Wednesday, as follows: President, Prof. T. H. Crawford; Sec., C. B. Moores; Treas., Miss Maria I. Smith; Executive Com., Miss Ellen Chamberlin, Mr. [illegible] Willis and H. H. Gilfrey; Orator for 1875, Geo. H. Strong; Poet, J. C. Crubb; Essayist, Mrs. J. K. Gill; Annalist, Charles W. Parrish.

The Circuit Court was occupied two days trying Jesse L. Adams and John Guess, charged with capturing a hog worth about eight dollars. It took twenty four jurymen, twenty seven witnesses, eight lawyers, two bailiffs, Clerk, Judge and other officers of the court to sift the matter and find that the above named individuals were "Not guilty." This eight dollar hog has cost somebody in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars.

THE TERRITORIES.

June 23, 1874, at Seattle, has been one of the most rainy days witnessed for a long time.

Thad Barr and his dog "Boxer" "got away" with a large black bear at Gray's Harbor a few days ago.

The family of Mr. Perry, recently afflicted with the smallpox and quarantined at Victoria, have returned to their home at Port Gamble.

Twenty five thousand pounds of wool was shipped at Olympia on Wednesday night last, for Victoria, there to be reshipped for San Francisco.

The Seattle Intelligencer is informed that a large number of settlers on the Snohomish have subscribed toward building a steamboat to run on the Snohomish river, from Mukilteo to the Falls.

On Saturday evening last a number of persons in Seattle, becoming very musical, serenaded Rev. D. Bagley and the Brown Church in first class style. From and after midnight sleep was very refreshing.

Ship-building at Port Ludlow still continues. Workmen are busily engaged on two schooners, each with 105 feet keel, 30 feet beam and 9 feet hold. They are being constructed under the supervision of Captain Hall.

There is getting to be quite a political buzz in Seattle in view of the coming city election. At a mass meeting a committee of twenty one of good citizens, without much regard to party, were chosen to nominate and bring out a full ticket.

Mr. Blodgett, for some years assistant light keeper at Cape Disappointment, has tendered his resignation and will go back to his farm on Young's river. The vacancy is filled by the promotion of Mr. Wass, and Mr. Ira A. Young takes the place of Mr. Wass.

The habeas corpus suit now pending in Seattle, but commenced in California, for the custody and guardianship of the little girl Sherman, has been in progress eight days before his Honor Judge Jacobs, and the testimony is not through with. There is considerable anxiety about results.

By private letter from Snohomish county, W. T., the Courier learns that logging continues on the river, and near two million feet of logs are kept on hand at Priest Point awaiting orders from mills. There are at present ten camps in active operation on the river (Snohomish), averaging eighteen thousand feet daily, each employing about 140 men and about the same number of oxen, and yet unless one is a very close observer he would not miss the timber taken. Farming has been somewhat extended this year—more people engaged in it, more land being cleared and fenced, and more produce of all kinds will be raised this year than any year previous. Hay crops are large and good; there will be enough produce raised here for home consumption and some to spare. The Sultan river mines have been thoroughly tested by Chinese and fail to give satisfaction.

Serious injury has been done by the recent frosts to the vines in the southeastern districts of France. The frosts, says the Moniteur Vinicole, prevailed in twenty departments. We use this term in reference to the superficial extent planted with the grape. The Cote-d'Or has lost, according to some, one third, and by other accounts a half. If we take the latter estimate, as the ordinary yield is 756,000 hectolitres (twenty two gallons each), that shows a deficiency of 378,000 hectos. The Isere loses two tenths—that is upon an average total of 490,440 hectos 98,088. In the Rhone, where the usual quantity is 934,705 hectos, it will be reduced by one fourth—233,676. The Saone et Loire, which generally furnishes 1,116,100 hectos, will this year give one-third or 372,067 hectos less. The above named journal, after indicating in the above manner the proportionate diminution in the twenty departments, arrives in round number at a total of 8,000,000 of hectolitres. But the average in France during the years 1870, '71 and '72 was 51,000,000 of hectos. There will still remain this year 46,000,000, which is a very respectable figure, without speaking of the exceptional abundance which the vine promised before the frost, and which after all may still increase the final calculations of the wine growers.

FRIDAY MORNING JUNE 26 1874

ANOTHER JETTISON

Another change in the Cabinet Postmaster General Creswell retires His successor is not certainly known If Hale, then he is still unknown Creswell has not given universal satisfaction, but he has certainly not been a bad man if the rest of the Cabinet are to be considered good Judging from what one is able to discern from the outside it appears about fair to say he has not been quite so good as the best nor so bad as the worst who have composed that indefinite body of people called by the general name of The Administration

The dispatches do not tell us whether Creswell's resignation was suggested by himself or by the President By the latter in all probability Few of that kind die and none resign—unless Creswell is an exception to the latter clause of the rule Who goes out next? Is Grant unloading or loading more heavily? If unloading he has not found a stopping place in the performance yet Richardson was a very eligible Jonah to be thrown overboard, and Creswell's room will be found quite as useful as his company in making the remainder of the voyage pleasant and creditable But there are several others "near the Government" whose names have become decidedly fragrant By sending these along the path just trodden by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster General the sensitive olfactories of the great republic would be accommodated, and there would be fewer noses turned up at the Administration In a word the stench which the corruptions about Washington have raised will not be allayed till still others of the Cabinet Ministers, that have been found out by their sins, are relegated to private life or shipped beyond seas

If Hale, or whosoever else turns out to be Creswell's successor, shall prove to be such a man as Bristow, the change will strengthen the administration incalculably in the confidence of the country. A few more changes, provided they be as fortunate as that which placed Bristow in the shoes of Richardson, added to Grant's magnificent flank movement on the financial question may make Cæsarism a more formidable thing than it has been regarded.

THE BEECHER TILTON SCANDAL AGAIN

The publication made by Theodore Tilton as stated in the dispatches of this morning would seem to corroborate the scandalous disclosures made by Victoria Woodhull relative to Mr Beecher's conduct After all that has been said upon that subject, Tilton can not be understood otherwise than as substantiating the main point in the scandal. There will not be found a place in Christendom so remote from the scene of this affair or isolated in its feelings and sympathies, but there its better people will regret that a [illegible] should have been pursued which [illegible] justify the reopening of this subject Nor will there be any found who [illegible] regret that Mr Tilton should have allowed any wrong he may have suffered at [illegible] to provoke him to refer to that matter And yet the very high character and sacred vocation of Mr. Beecher [illegible] rather reasons why he should [illegible] if he has been guilty of this [illegible] than why he should not. If [illegible] is the hypocritical scoundrel that these publications make him out to be, [illegible] should be known But somehow [illegible] believe but that the case is [illegible] of some explanation that [illegible] him from the worst specifi[illegible] the charge This explanation however must not be an equivocal statement [illegible] defense Mr Beecher can not [illegible] and he cannot afford to rest his [illegible] anything short of an absolute and unqualified denial of the gravamen of the charge and an explanation of the allusions in Tilton's card Unless he can make such a defense, then let the whole truth be out

[illegible] put in every honest hand a whip
[illegible] the rascal naked through the world.

"POSITIVELY THE LAST"

For [illegible] many years the series of great drawings in Louisville, Kentucky, has dragged its weary length before the public gaze it would be useless to attempt to state accurately without referring to Hayden's Dictionary of Dates" Boys who were attracted by the flaming advertisements that filled the newspapers all over the nation, telling how many chances there were in these "concert drawings" to make a fortune in a day and upon the investment of the trifling matter of a dollar, are now men grown, and still about twice a year this gambling scheme challenges their gaze as they take up their newspaper For the benefit of the orphans, for the benefit of the deaf mutes, for the sufferers by fire or by flood, by epidemic or by war, for public halls and public libraries, this lottery makes its appeals to a generous people It has been a long time since the newspapers told the listening millions that a person bearing the name of Thomas E. Bramlette was elected Governor of the State of Kentucky It seems an age since it was announced that the people of that ancient commonwealth had chosen a successor to Thomas E. Bramlette, aforesaid Possibly it appears longer than it has been in fact, so much has the rapid whirl of events tended to confuse the memory, but certainly it is long enough, so long that the names of that successor and his successor have been lost to sight and to memory, and Bramlette has ceased to write "Ex-Governor" before his signature lest the middle aged Kentuckian ask what he was ever Governor of The fact that such a person has ever existed is only preserved by the record of the successive "drawings" and yet this organized monopoly of the business of legal gambling reaches clear back to the reign of Bramlette as Governor of all the Cornercrackers Its history covers a period as broad as that of Bramlette In fact, he and it were made by the same men and at about the same time

But the concern has quit An Eastern paper says an effort was recently made to have one more "benefit," but that the management after much and grave consultation concluded to shut up shop "for good and all" The last drawing was had on the 31st of March, and, being under the especial charge of Bramlette as all its predecessors had been it was conducted with the most unexceptionable fairness, as they had been conducted and the Louisville Library realized therefrom a great many thousands of dollars which placed that useful institution on its feet and in fine condition

If anybody is narrow minded and straight haired enough to raise objection on moral grounds to this manner of raising the wind we beg to remind such persons that gambling when the percentage of the bank is appropriated to charitable, or at least beneficent purposes is a very different thing from gambling and letting the dealer have the percentage It is all wrong to do evil for the purpose of accomplishing ultimate good If any philanthropically inclined individual will only engage not to take out of the profits of the establishment more than a reasonable salary, and to devote the remainder to charitable and public uses there would be no one so unreasonable and fanatical as to object to his opening a first class faro bank, or a place were three card monte could be indulged in in a quiet and orderly way and with occasional winnings for those who chose to "buck."

And then have we not had the Grass Valley and San Francisco enterprises of the same kind and Omaha [illegible]? And were all these things immoral? Nonsense! One can not but feel sad at reading the final announcement that "positively the last opportunity of this sort has passed and gone forever. Amusements so elevating in tone are not usually national in extent but these Louisville "drawings" have been so Local in their benefits, they have been national in their influence It is too bad that the affairs of the institution had to be wound up, before more than half the people of the United States got ready to bet on the game, but it is to be hoped the country will make out to get along somehow without it—and all of its kind.

THE ANTI MONOPOLISTS

The Anti-Monopolists of Iowa have come to the front in a State organization, and speak plainly on the questions that most deeply concern the producing classes Some of their utterances may be subject to criticism as going farther than good policy would dictate, but in the main those people demand only what sooner or later must be granted, namely, legal control of the corporations to the same extent that natural persons are subject to such control. The anti-ring people all over the country will watch the proceedings of this and similar organizations with intense interest, for the monopolies and the political rings are identical in all their interests and will continue to co-operate with each other as they have done hitherto, while all anti-ring people and anti-monopolists must co-operate together for their common defense

Probably the greatest difficulty to be apprehended is that of uniting all who desire to accomplish the same result upon some moderate and practicable method The tendency of such movements is to push matters to such extremity as to defeat themselves

WALLAMET UNIVERSITY ALUMNI

The regular annual meeting of the Alumni Association of the Wallamet University was held last Wednesday evening at Salem The attendance, both of graduates of the institution and citizens of the town, at the public exercises was very large, and the literary and musical entertainment, furnished was excellent The Orator on the occasion was Mr M L Jones, who spoke on the subject of Principle vs Policy. His oration was replete with beautiful thoughts and was well received though more life in his manner of delivery would have added interest An essay on "Spinning what kind of Yarn" written and read by Miss Clara A Watt was one of the best productions we have heard on such occasions in our State, and certainly possessed much literary merit Miss Watt reads in a clear, forcible and fluent manner and received deserved applause Mr M O Lownsdale of this city read a very thrilling poem entitled "A Vestal Sacrifice" which won for him the plaudits of his hearers and evinced poetic merit of a very fair order

After the literary part of the meeting had closed, the Alumni and invited guests repaired to the Chemeketa Hotel, where a most elegant supper was spread, which was partaken of with as great relish as had been manifest in the reception of mental pabulum at the University After the supper, Mr Geo. F. Strong read "Annals" of the Classes of 1866 and 1867 and Messrs Simpson Chambers Royal Buff Sellwood and Willis and Prof. T H Crawford made short speeches in response to calls of their former classmates

The whole affair was admirably conducted and proved a source of pleasure long to be remembered by all who had the good fortune to be present

Maybe it is because we are stupid but we have not been able to perceive very clearly the point to the dispute that is going on between the Bulletin and the News The most we can make out of it is that the News does not see fit to advertise for everybody on the same terms upon which it advertises for the city and the Bulletin imagining that it has a mission to redress the grievances of the injured parties has unsheathed its sword and is hacking away with a perfect looseness at the News, while the latter insists that so long as it keeps within the limits of its lawful fees in maximum charges, it is nobody's business whether it makes a reduction in favor of the city or not

EUGENE ITEMS

Says our correspondent at Eugene under date of June 25th

A citizen and a stranger had a scrimmage before breakfast yesterday morning over the relative merits of Oregon and Minnesota weather Who says the weather is not an exciting topic of conversation

Yesterday the Masters of the different Granges of this county met here to make arrangements to celebrate the coming Fourth of July Grounds will be selected as near Eugene as possible, and the Grangers intend to show the towns people that they can conduct a pageant as well as hold a plow

Two men arrived recently who have spent the past winter in the vicinity of Crescent Lake, just beyond the summit of the Cascades on the O C M Road in trapping They bring with them a large number of pelts, mostly marten and mink which they value at about $1,400 Pretty good winter's work

Felix Gibson a Spaniard and W W Piper, had a little unpleasantness last Saturday in which Felix went for the latter individual with a knife. Piper succeeded in wresting the knife away, but not until he had received a slight cut on the head The Spaniard gave leg bail but was arrested at Salem and brought back. A preliminary examination was held Tuesday and he was admitted to bail in the sum of $400 which, failing to procure, he was sent to jail.

HORSE SUBDUED —R H Tapp the horse tamer, accomplished the difficult feat yesterday afternoon of subduing a very vicious horse belonging to Mr Barney of Washington Territory During the performance—for it proved really entertaining—several hundred persons were present Within the short space of 25 minutes Mr Tapp succeeded in reducing the vicious and intractable animal to a docile and lamb-like state. This animal was never broken to ride, but in an hour or so, the tamer placed a saddle on its back and mounting, rode all over town The horse is completely subdued and the owner expressed himself entirely satisfied with the wonderful and radical change wrought in the disposition of the animal

AMUSEMENTS.

The Minstrels are now established favorites with the Portland public, judging from the manner in which they are nightly received by the large audiences. The season though brief promises to be fully as successful as Manager Greenwall anticipated and more so than the "knowing ones" ever dreamed of Mr Greenwall came here and found almost every one loth to encourage the introduction of the large combination of artists, but he knew what he was about, and we are pleased to note the attendance has been uniformly large at each performance Owing to attractions elsewhere on certain nights there has been a slight falling off but when there is a clear field the Oro Fino is comfortably filled and often crowded. The performance last evening was certainly an entertaining one in every respect Russell, Baker and others in excellent ballads, were as pleasing as ever Of course Sweatnam and Reed were funny, and the new local hits proved palpable and taking The dancing of Newcomb, Welch and Rice was of the highest order and Knight sang his Dutch specialties in his own peculiar style Little Mack was thrown about like a foot ball in an act with Rice, Welch and Newcomb He didn't mind it much, and sang danced and acted with vim [illegible] was the leading figure in the closing act, and his quaint sayings and ridiculous situations were laughable in the extreme Little Mac is up for a benefit to-night He appears in his best acts—the Baby Elephant among the number Be sure to be on hand and see the little baby

The concert given at Masonic Hall yesterday afternoon was poorly attended. An excellent programme was presented but as our people have had a surfeit of affairs of like character it was not surprising to see so few people in the house We think however that had the concert taken place on some evening the attendance would have been larger. Mr Smith of Gray's Music Store is to be congratulated for his enterprise in offering to the public a programme so attractive and we regret being compelled to say that he leaves us to-day and therefore we must wait some time to hear from him again as manager of a similar entertainment Messrs Baker and Russell sang in charming style and were loudly applauded Prof Bodecker's solos on the piano were brilliant efforts and Geo S Knight read Schneider's Ride in a manner that gave so much satisfaction as to warrant his reappearance when he recited a burlesque on "Excelsior" in a happy style The piano duet of Profs. Bodecker and Brenner proved a genuine success and they were rapturously applauded. Con Murphy read the "Letter of Death," his own composition, with pathos and the audience listened to it with the strictest attention The performance of Profs Gans, Bodecker Brenner and Fink on the pianos at the same time, something new and novel was excellent We are pleased to note the advancement of the Portland Brass Band but a hall is no place for them to play in as the sounds are so deafening as to lose their sweetness The audience retired thoroughly pleased with the entertainment

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

Yesterday morning was the time designated by Judge Upton for pronouncing sentence against Robert Gibbens convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Charles I Schoppe on the evening of Jan 13th Nine o'clock being the hour appointed for the convening of Court several hundred persons were present at the opening attracted thither by curiosity to hear and see what was said and done Gibbens closely guarded, was brought into the Court room a few moments after Judge Upton assumed the bench He looked very pale and thin and every lineament of his features betokened intense mental suffering With the exception of a casual and somewhat timid glance about the room at the multitude of expectant faces he seemed scarcely conscious of his surroundings After seating himself the prisoner leaned his head slightly forward and bent a vacant stare on the floor with his hands clasped and lying [illegible] his lap [illegible] the [illegible] of his countenance one could perceive at a glance that [illegible] the unfortunate prisoner There was a changeless stolidity in his face—not a hardened reckless look—but a look of such hopeless despair that could not fail to touch the hearts of all Had those been present yesterday morning who were loudest in their clamor for his life soon after the commission of the terrible deed and looked at Gibbens as he sat motionless and apparently dumb at the bar—friendless and penniless a felon convicted of the highest penalty known to the law on whose soul rested the guilt and stain of human blood—such persons could not have experienced aught but feelings of the deepest commiseration Whatever feelings of revenge or indignation one might entertain against the prisoner for the perpetration of the great crime with which he stands convicted such feelings it does seem would be dissolved in those of compassionate pity for the miserable creature, who notwithstanding he has committed a most heinous deed of blood seemed to realize its enormity, and to have yielded himself up to the impressions of despair and to have been abandoned to the consuming pangs of self reproach and remorse which prey like hungry furies on his soul Such a pitiable and abject creature did Gibbens appear yesterday morning when he made his appearance in the Court room to receive his sentence—that of death.

As was previously announced Mr Caples attorney for the defendant had filed a motion to set aside the verdict of the jury and for a new trial Immediately on assuming the bench Judge Upton stated that the hour designated for passing sentence on the prisoner had arrived but as a motion for a new trial was filed by defendant's counsel the arguments pro and con would first be heard and duly considered by the Court

Before the argument was made on the main motion for a new trial the District Attorney filed a motion to the effect that three affidavits made by that number of jurors who belonged to the panel which convicted Gibbens be stricken from the files These affidavits were made respectively by John Waud G O Bailey and S Farrell and set forth that the verdict as rendered by the jury of which they were members, was under a misapprehension (so far as they were concerned) that they had misunderstood and wrongly construed the instructions of the Court; that had they properly understood what was said by the Court in relation to the law applicable to the case, they would not have given consent to a verdict of murder in the first degree It was for the purpose of striking these affidavits from the files that the District Attorney presented his motion On the part of the State it was claimed that such affidavits made by jurors for the purpose of impeaching the verdict already rendered were not proper or admissible in the present case and for that and other reasons was strongly objected to This motion was argued at considerable length by Mr Caples in behalf of the defendant, and Messrs H Y Thompson and L A Cronin for the State Copious authorities were cited, extracts read to support the admissibility and of such proceeding and able and exhaustive arguments submitted by opposing counsel The Court however granted the motion to strike the affidavits out, and they were accordingly erased from the files.

At this juncture the court stated that the arguments on the motion for a new trial would be taken up by the opposite council and Mr Caples opened the argument in favor of the motion The following are the principal grounds on which the motion for a new trial was based

Irregularity in the proceedings of the court and abuse of discretion by which defendant was prevented from having a fair trial in the following particulars:

First—That the court erred in overruling the defendant's motion for a change of trial to some other county, which motion supported by affidavits was filed in this court before the said action was called for trial

Second—That the court erred in overruling the motion of defendant for a postponement of trial to the time therein prayed for which motion for postponement was duly filed

Third—Newly discovered evidence material for the said defendant which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial

Fourth—Insufficiency of evidence to justify the verdict of the jury and that said verdict is against law

This motion was argued at much length by the opposing counsel Mr Caples in an hour's speech argued the merits of the points raised He gave a logical and exhaustive argument in support of the motion quoting from many authorities to prove his position and concluding with a complete review of the testimony and circumstances of the case District Attorney Geo H Durham followed in a short but effective argument adverse to the granting of a new trial likewise citing the court to numerous authorities in support of his position

Noon having arrived at the conclusion of Mr Durham's speech Court adjourned until 1 o'clock On the reassembling of Court Mr H Y Thompson took up the thread of argument at the point left by Mr Durham, and made what we should characterize as an able effort against the granting of a new trial in which that gentleman traversed the whole grounds of the case and proceeded to critically and logically analyze the points raised and to discuss the legal aspects of the subject He was followed briefly by Mr Caples who closed the argument in behalf of the defendant

The Court announced at the conclusion of the argument, that owing to the great and important issue involved in the motion for a new trial no decision would be rendered at once Due and timely consideration would be bestowed upon the arguments submitted the numerous authorities to which attention had been called and also to the evidence which was educed at the trial In view of the time required to carefully and thoroughly investigate the case and examine the various points raised by the defendant's counsel next Monday morning was designated as the day on which a decision would be rendered At that time either a new trial will be granted or sentence passed on the prisoner.

ANNUAL MEETING JUNE 25 1874

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

The following annual message was received from His Honor Mayor Failing

To the Honorable the Common Council

In conformity to the provisions of Sec 10 of the Charter I herewith submit the following brief statement of the affairs of the corporation

At the annual meeting of the Council held one year ago I presented an exhibit of the financial condition of the City showing that of the amount estimated to be received from taxes [illegible] which had been apportioned to the General Fund for the year 1873 more than sixty (60) per cent had been expended during the first six months of the fiscal year In addition to the expenditure of this large proportion of the estimated revenue a large indebtedness had been contracted payable in 1874 on a liability had been incurred in the improvement of B street which with expenses of litigation already contracted for swelled the floating debt to a large amount In view of the unfavorable exhibit I urged upon the Council the most rigid economy in the expenditure of money and although the current expenses were considerably reduced during the latter half of the year the floating debt above referred to created a large deficiency at the close of the year 1873

The tax levied for the year 1873 was 13 1 10 mills The actual financial condition of the city at the close of the fiscal year ending Dec 31 1873 is ascertained to have been as follows

Outstanding warrants general fund $ [illegible]
Outstanding warrants fire department fund 154 25
Indebtedness audited and unpaid fire department and water supply 8 [illegible] 10
Outstanding warrants police fund 31 00
Outstanding warrants lamp fund 40
Due on account of lighting street lamps [illegible] 00
Due on account of board of prisoners 1 [illegible] 00
Due Surveyor and Assistant [illegible] 00
Indebtedness [illegible] health department [illegible]
Deficiency on B street improvement [illegible] $ [illegible] 21

CASH IN TREASURY

General fund $ 251 98
Fire department fund 1 108 [illegible]
Interest on bond [illegible]
Police fund [illegible]
Street lamp fund [illegible] [illegible] 67

Net deficiency Jan 1st 1874 $8 [illegible] 01

The above deficiency is in excess of three (3) mills upon the valuation of property for the purposes of taxation and corresponds very nearly though somewhat in excess of the estimate submitted by me before the entire indebtedness had been audited and before the tax had been levied for the current year

The amount appropriated from the tax for 1873 to the payment of indebtedness incurred prior to Dec 31 1872 was $8 653 25 or about one (1) mill on the taxable property The taxation for the year 1873 having been 13 4 10 mills it will be seen that the actual expenditure for the year (exclusive of the cost of rebuilding house for Engine Co No 4) was in addition to the other revenues from licenses fines &c equivalent to (15½) fifteen and one-half mills on the dollar of taxable property A taxation of one and one half per cent for Corporation purposes is so oppressive, and its effect upon real property and general trade so obvious to every member of the Council that any argument on my part against its repetition would be superfluous

I believe that a floating debt is calculated to impair the credit of the Corporation and in the end to prove expensive I therefore favored such a tax for the current fiscal year as would enable the city to discharge all existing indebtedness and pay the current expenses of the year This course was recommended by me together with the utmost economy in making the estimates

The Committee on Ways and Means invited my co operation in making the estimates for the year In order to pay existing debt and bring the tax levy down to such a figure as not to be oppressive it became necessary to reduce estimates to the lowest possible amount and except that they were in the matter of salaries made to correspond with ordinances then in force the estimates were made with a view to economy in every department

A tax was levied for all purposes for the fiscal year 1874 of ten and one half mills of which four mills was apportioned to the general fund It being necessary to devote a sum in excess of three (3) mills to the payment of indebtedness incurred prior to Jan 1st 1874 there remained less than (7½) seven and one half mills applicable to the expenses of the current year for all departments of the city government

The revenue for the current year was estimated at the time the tax was levied as follows

Cash in treasury January 1 1874 $ [illegible] 70
From tax of 10½ mills on $ [illegible] million [illegible]
Licenses [illegible]
Fines [illegible] 00

$1 [illegible]

The amount ascertained and estimated at that date is as follows

Cash in treasury January 1 1874 $ 1,596 70
Taxes collected [illegible] 48
Licenses 1st quarter [illegible] 11
Fines 1st quarter [illegible]
Estimated coll [illegible] delinquent tax [illegible] licenses 3d and 4th quarter 000 00
fines 3d and 4th quarters 900 00

$118 [illegible] 61

Statements in detail of the condition of the several funds to which the taxes were apportioned will be laid before you in the semi annual report of the Auditor on the 1st prox., and it is therefore unnecessary to give you more than a summary of the condition of the respective funds to enable you to judge of the resources for the remainder of the year

The amount estimated to be available for the six months ending Dec 31 1874 in the several funds (other than the General Fund) is as follows

Fire Department Fund $ [illegible]
Street Lamp Fund [illegible]
Fund for interest on bonded debt [illegible]
Police Fund including estimated revenue from fines [illegible]

The condition of the General Fund ascertained and estimated is as follows

Cash in Treasury Jan 1 $ 221 [illegible]
Received from taxes [illegible]
Licenses 1st quarter [illegible] 11
Estimated revenue from delinquent tax 1 175 [illegible]
Licenses estimated 3d and 4th quarters 1 000 00 $ [illegible]

DEDUCT

Audited Indebtedness Jan 1 1874 $ [illegible]
Warrants drawn since Jan 1 1874 [illegible]
Estimated salaries &c due to July 1 1874 [illegible]

Estimated amount available for 6 mos ending Dec 31 1874 $ [illegible]
Aggregate amount of different funds available for 6 months ending Dec 31 1874 $11 [illegible]

The amount in Fire Department and Lamp funds will only suffice for the ordinary repairs allowances to fire companies and contracts for lighting street lamps The tax levied for Police Fund was 3 10 of one mill less than the estimate and this deficiency together with the decrease of revenue from fines will at the present cost of the Police force leave a total deficiency of about four thousand dollars to be provided for out of the General Fund It is anticipated that the Police Commissioners will in view of the diminished number of offenses against the peace as shown by the decrease in number of arrests so reduce the force as to cover at least one half of the deficiency The disbursements from the General Fund after deducting payments on account of last year's debt show an expenditure for the first six months of the year of about sixteen thousand dollars The salaries of a number of the officers of the city have been reduced to take effect on the 1st of July and if my estimates of the revenue are fully realized the corporation may be freed from floating debt at the close of the fiscal year if its affairs are conducted economically

Taxation based upon the valuation of property for the present year should not exceed 7½ mills If the affairs of the corporation are properly administered that amount is ample not only for the current expenses and interest on bonded debt but will enable the Council each year to expend at least a sum equal to one mill tax upon erection of buildings new fire apparatus or for such other purposes as may seem most important at the time Should the city be successful in the suits now pending for the recovery of costs taxed fines and penalties paid into the Police Court and hereafter enforce the law requiring such moneys to be paid into the City Treasury the tax can be still further and very materially reduced

The bonded debt has been increased the past year by the issue of bonds to the amount of $20 000 making the total bonded debt $76 500 The proceeds of the bonds issued during the past year were appropriated by the ordinance authorizing the loan to the rebuilding of Engine and Hook and Ladder houses destroyed by the fire of August 2d and for providing a better fire alarm

The bonds sold for a premium of [illegible] per cent and interest accrued $ 100 00
There has been expended for the rebuilding of Engine house No 4 [illegible] 00
For alarm bell and freight to San Francisco [illegible]
Leaving a balance in Treasury of $11 [illegible]

The rebuilding of the house for Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company was postponed awaiting the perfection of title to the lot The title was perfected over two months since and the preliminary steps to rebuild the house have not yet been taken The city is paying a rental of $600 per year for a house used by this company

A fire alarm bell was purchased shipped hither per steamer via Panama in order to insure quick delivery No tower has been erected nor so far as I have any knowledge have any plans or specifications been made though authorized by the Council months ago Meantime the money is lying idle in the City Treasury and the city is paying interest thereon at the rate of nine and one-half per cent per annum

Such management if continued can only lead to pecuniary embarrassment in either individuals or corporations

The estimates upon which the Fire Department bonds were issued, included the erection of a fire alarm telegraph I had some doubt of the propriety of incurring so large an expense but approved the ordinance authorizing the loan as the ordinance did not provide in terms for any description of alarm No action has been taken in the premises but upon such information as I have been able to obtain I have come to the conclusion that the telegraph alarm will prove the most economical If this system is not introduced it is probable that it will be found necessary to have at least two men employed as watchmen and bell ringers As nearly as I can ascertain, the cost of keeping the line in order and the interest on its original cost will not be nearly so expensive as the employment of two men The telegraphic alarm will be much more effective The necessary amount is now in the Treasury and I recommend that the Council make early inquiry to ascertain the comparative expense of the two methods Specifications and estimate of the cost of erecting an alarm are on file in the Auditor's office I am in possession of estimates made by competent persons of the cost of working and maintaining the line

During the past year a marked improvement has been made in the manner of appropriating and expending public money Though the changes made have not been as effective as if made earlier in the year I am satisfied that a large amount has already been saved thereby to the Treasury The practice heretofore in vogue of appropriating in round numbers large sums of money without clearly specifying the object and mode of expenditure has been abandoned Under the former practice large sums were expended by resolution or vote of a majority of members present, which could not have received the sanction of ordinance To such an extent had this violation of the charter been practiced that not only were debts incurred by standing committees, but subordinate officers and employes in some cases assumed the responsibility of making purchases and employing labor upon the credit of the city without authority Such regulations have been established by ordinance No 1434 approved February 13, 1874, as provide for all cases of exigency and remove all necessity for contracting indebtedness without full authorization

In my communication to the Council, dated June 1873 I recommended a reduction of salaries of city officers where it could be done without injury to the interests of the city, and urged a full consideration of the matter before electing officers for the ensuing year The Council proceeded to elect officers without making any re adjustment of salaries, and subsequently declined to make any reduction on the ground that it would be unjust to reduce salaries during the term of the incumbents I was convinced that the salaries were larger than necessary and at the commencement of the year declined to approve ordinances making appropriations for salaries for more than six months—at which time the terms of some officials would expire At the last meeting of the Council ordinances were passed reducing the salaries of the City Attorney Treasurer Assessor and Superintendent of Streets—which will save to the city about two thousand dollars per year

By amendment to the Charter passed October 28th 1872 provision was made for a Superintendent of Streets which office was to supersede the office of Street Commissioner upon the election and qualification of a Superintendent. The act prescribed such duties as would require the services of an engineer capable of making plans and estimates of the cost of improvements and supervise all public work The Council in June 1873 elected a Superintendent fitted by education to fulfill the duties of the office and fixed the salary at $2 400 per year—by this act abolished the office of Street Commissioner I declined to approve the ordinance on the ground that the city could not afford to pay large salaries to two skilled officers (Surveyor and Superintendent of Streets) unless the work could be so consolidated as to obviate the necessity of employing an Assistant Surveyor and thus reduce the expenses of the Surveyor's office

The Council finally passed in January last an ordinance providing for the payment of salaries to Surveyor and Assistant Surveyor in lieu of per diem, and an ordinance providing for the consolidation of the office work pertaining to both positions so far as was consistent with the provisions of the Charter prescribing the duties of City Surveyor The last ordinance was so amended before its final passage as to take effect on the 1st July 1874

The average outlay for pay of Surveyor and Assistant under the per diem method for the year 1873 was $300 per month Under the ordinance passed in January the expense has been reduced nearly $50 per month

The Council at its last meeting reduced the salary of Superintendent of Streets to $1 800 per annum and with only one dissenting vote repealed that clause of the ordinance requiring that the incumbent should be a professional engineer Although the repeal of this particular clause might not be out of place, leaving the Council free to judge of the qualifications of any candidate, yet this action and the reduction of the salary to $1 800 I regard as indicative of the determination of the Council to return to the old method and select some person competent only to supervise ordinary street work and see that the ordinances relating to obstructions of streets &c are enforced

My recommendations last year concerning the duties and compensation of the Surveyor and Superintendent of Streets were based upon the action of the Council in electing under Sec 61 of the Charter a skilled officer as Superintendent and fixing his salary accordingly I doubt whether the intention of the Council as [illegible] the Section of the Charter [illegible] I believe that efficiency and economy [illegible] promoted by having [illegible] at the head of the Street Department who would employ the Surveyor [illegible] be necessary [illegible] the Surveyor to be compensated [illegible] fixed by ordinance [illegible] the record of the work [illegible] kept in the office of Superintendent [illegible] the bill to be audited by that officer [illegible] to the Council for payment

While I entertain these views I do not wish to be understood as [illegible] in a matter which the Council has under consideration [illegible]

I desire however to [illegible] upon the Council the importance of deciding at once what shall be the duties required of the Surveyor and Superintendent of Streets respectively

Upon this decision must depend not only the compensation but the qualifications of the person elected to the office of Superintendent of Streets If the incumbent is expected to fulfill all the duties required by Section 61 of the Charter the compensation [illegible] is inadequate If he is expected to perform only such duties as were formerly required of the Street Commissioner the salary could be still further reduced

I recommend that purchase be made of 1 000 feet of hose of the quality now in use by the Fire Department to be placed in charge of the Chief Engineer for use in case of emergency

The suit now pending against the Police Judge for the recovery of costs fixed on fines and penalties paid into the Police Court was delayed by the neglect of the Council to order an appeal taken in time for the June term of the Supreme Court In my communication to the Council of June last I reported the amount retained during 1872 by the Police Judge to be $3 280 60 and by the Chief of Police for the same year $1 168 40 During 1873 there was retained a still larger amount by each officer—the amount retained by the Police Judge being $3 918 40 and by the Chief of Police $1 441 07 Suit has been instituted during the past year against the Chief of Police for the amount paid to him and retained These suits should be pressed to a termination at the next session of the Supreme Court and if through any technicality the city shall fail to recover legislation should be invoked to remedy so great an abuse

I have felt it my duty to return to the Council a number of ordinances during the past year without my approval These ordinances have been with one or two exceptions, such as in my view either appropriated money contrary to the provisions of the charter infringed upon the rights of individuals or the city Their passage has been chiefly due to the practice of postponing business until the emergency seemed to require the suspension of rules In this way ordinances have frequently been passed without due consideration and which have proved to be in conflict with the charter

In addition to the reforms already mentioned as having been made during the year a large saving has been made by reduction of allowance for board of prisoners, by abolishing the clerkship of the Police Court and the discharge of persons whose services were no longer required, if indeed they were ever necessary

Application has been made to the Board of County Commissioners during the year to pay for the maintenance of prisoners confined in the city jail and who are subsequently tried for offences against the State which application has been refused

The cost to the city of boarding prisoners is now reduced to fifty cents per day while the county pays eighty six cents per day, and jailer's fees in addition

I see no reason why the county should not reimburse the city for such outlay and recommend that application be made to the new Board

By the disastrous fire which occurred in August last, a large number of families were rendered temporarily homeless, and many persons thrown out of employment I deemed it best immediately after the fire to take some measures for the relief of such persons as were destitute, and requested a number of gentlemen possessing the confidence of the entire community to act as a Committee of Relief and make a suitable appeal for aid and accept and distribute such moneys as might be paid to them

All proffers of aid were handed to the Committee, and such tenders as were received from abroad were replied to under the advice of said Committee The contributions of our own citizens proved to be ample to provide the most liberal aid not only to relieve temporary want, but to place all in a position to earn a livelihood The Committee was subjected to much unkind criticism for rejecting aid from distant cities chiefly growing out of misapprehension of the real extent of suffering while the members of the Committee aided by a number of citizens who were acting as Visiting Committee were instituting inquiry and giving diligent personal attention to the work No defense was made, the Committee being satisfied that time would prove that their action was the only course consistent with honor, and the good name of our city

I feel it my duty to publicly express my personal acknowledgements to the gentlemen who undertook this unwelcome labor and faithfully performed it, bearing with patience the harshest criticism from those who were ignorant of the true state of affairs

I feel assured that when the final report of the Committee shall be made and the history of its doings shall be published, it will be found that the aid granted was of a broader and more liberal character than has been known in any similar visitation of misfortune and that the entire community will feel grateful to the members of the Committee for their wisdom and judgment both in receiving and disbursing the fund

I congratulate the members of the Council upon the auspices under which they commence the duties of the year the greatly improved condition of the city finances and the large reduction in the ordinary disbursements, give hope that the public expectation concerning taxation may be fully realized during your term of office

It is a matter for congratulation that a more general interest is exhibited by the voters in the selection of city officers that the general desire for retrenchment compels the selection of citizens of unexceptionable character as opposing candidates that such citizens feel impelled by a sense of duty, and at great personal sacrifice to accept the positions assigned to them by their fellow citizens

The demand for retrenchment is not to be interpreted as a demand for niggardly conduct on the part of the Council So long as we enjoy the advantages of a good city government we must expect to be taxed therefor and tax payers will cheerfully pay the amount necessary to carry into effect the purposes of the act of incorporation for such thorough equipment of the Fire Department as will afford adequate protection against fire for necessary police protection for needed public improvement and generally for the enforcement of wholesome ordinances

The tax payers do demand however that all moneys shall be expended in strict conformity to the provision of the charter, that all contracts to which the city is a party shall be rigidly enforced that political favoritism shall be banished from the city government or at least cease to be used as an instrument for the creation of sinecures the payment of exorbitant salaries or shielding officers from the strictest accountability for neglect of duty

These demands correspond with the purpose which I announced upon entering upon the duties of the Mayoralty and I promise you my hearty support in all measures looking to its accomplishment

His Grace, Most Rev. F N Blanchet will proceed to St Paul this week for the purpose of administering Confirmation on Sunday next

His Grace Archbishop Blanchet paid a visit to Umatilla during the past week He returned last night, having enjoyed the trip very much notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather during the past two days

The Committee of Arrangements for the Sunday School picnic have not yet been able to take an observation in consequence of old Sol being hidden behind the humid clouds But like the next new moon that picnic is bound to come off sometime before next Thanksgiving Due notice will be given as soon as the rainy season ends

We are glad to see our Eastern cotemporaries are lending their influence toward ameliorating the condition of Catholic soldiers in the United States army The letter of a "Soldier" which we published last May has been copied by the Baltimore Mirror, New York Tablet, Freeman's Journal and other influential journals and we hope it will result in some good to Catholics in the army.

We are in receipt of the Annual Catalogue of the Santa Clara College from which we gladly learn that it is in a prosperous condition As a complete college it stands without a rival on the Pacific coast Studies will be resumed on the 11th of August, and parents desirous of placing their sons in an institution offering superior advantages, both in moral and mental training, will patronize Santa Clara College

After the Commencement exercises on Tuesday evening last were over, quite a surprise party met in the rooms of the Portland Academy to congratulate Mrs M A Royal on the occasion of reaching another birthday anniversary Some handsome presents were passed and a happy time was experienced around the refreshment table

Rev T S Dunn, pastor of Central M E Church San Francisco, has been making the tour of Oregon and Washington Territory—the fortunate traveling guest of his former noble parishioners, Capt D B Finch and wife Bro Dunn preached a sermon full of Gospel truth and consolation to the congregation of Taylor Street Church in this city on Sabbath morning last, and then addressed the Temperance meeting at night After visiting Salem he will return home by the overland route—doubtless better prepared than ever to work for the Master.

A GEM (?)

A precious stone lay, unobserved
Its worth could not be roughly guessed
None gave the notice it deserved
Because it was not nicely dressed

A man in tattered garments clothed
With kindest heart within his breast
By ignorance and pride is loathed
Because he is not better dressed

Then gentlemen a warning take
By such examples here expressed
And hurry ere it be too late
To JOSEPH KOHN'S and get well dressed

It is dressing that makes the man and the gem beautiful and as the cost is so very trifling every one should polish up in a suit of our elegant clothing

Cable advices from Europe report are [illegible] the rates at the Bank of England and [illegible] supply of money generally on the Continent. At New York by last reports by mail we learn that call loans are easier than at any previous time and at 2 per cent on Government collateral almost any amount of money can be obtained while the ordinary quotations on miscellaneous collaterals are [illegible] per cent. Commercial paper [illegible] the call loan market and is easier than before the quotation for prime names being [illegible] per cent. At San Francisco there is said to be a vast amount of unemployed money, and only from some of the cities of the Mississippi valley do we hear of a slight tendency in the money market to a closer state of affairs. Our local monetary [illegible] fair degree of ease and the prospect for a full supply for all legitimate purposes of the fall trade is good

The Secretary of the Treasury [illegible] before last called in [illegible] more of the 5-20s of 1862 on which interest will cease September [illegible]. The bonds are called in against the reported sale of [illegible] of the 5s of 1881 and the Times says Messrs Von Hoffman & Co and Messrs Philip Speyer & Co are credited with the purchase of the new bonds. The negotiation of the Government $[illegible] was accompanied by a loan of £2,000,000 negotiated abroad by the New Jersey and Central Railroad secured by mortgage on the Wyoming Coal and Iron Company's property the loan to be taken in four periodical instalments of £500,000 each. Several other loans are also reported as just completed against which the Exchange will soon appear in the market. The whole amount of the loans reported the past few days thus amounts to some $11,000,000 not including the U S 5 per cents

Boston Wool Market.

[BY TELEGRAPH]

BOSTON June 24.—There continues to be a good demand for all descriptions of wool and while high prices continue to be asked interior manufacturers do not hesitate to pay current rates on the seaboard and it is evident that the prices of wool will be no lower for a month to come. It is not believed possible that the present high prices can be sustained in the interior with the present outlook of the manufacturing business and before many weeks the market will settle down on a more solid basis. Spring California continues in demand and meets with ready sale at from 30 to 40 cents per pound. New will not be arriving in any considerable quantity for a week or two and the high prices will tend to keep the crop backward. New and old Ohio and Pennsylvania has been sold at 50@56c per lb pulled wools are in fair demand and range from 40 to 56c for different grades of superior and extra good Eastern superior, is selling from 52 to 55c

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The nearness of the harvest and the certainty of a very large yield in all the wheat growing sections of our coast has a tendency to render buyers cautious and depreciate prices. A [illegible] lots have changed hands during the week now under review at rates ranging from $1 40@1 50 per cental the latter being paid only for choice milling. The bark Achievement now fully due will probably be the last vessel to load for a foreign port this harvest year, and her cargo being fully secured we shall look for no further fluctuations in the market until the new crop comes in which will not be until about the 20th prox or the 1st of August.

FLOUR—Oregon extras are quoted in the San Francisco market at $[illegible]@5 75 ⅌ bbl, while rates here are about 50 cts lower. Agents of our State mills are succeeding in working off the surplus and [illegible] have but little on hand when the new crop comes in. Some fair shipments have been made during the week aggregating near 3,000 bbls. Some country brands and superfine are in fair supply at [illegible] 75 ⅌ bbl

OATS—The demand for shipping still remains fair [illegible] the few lots now offering readily command 4[illegible]c ⅌ bushel in sacks. The new crop will be abundant and prices are very probably 5 to 10c ⅌ bushel higher now than they will be six weeks hence. The local trade is active for the season

BARLEY—The local demand is brisker, and choice lots readily command $1 45 to $1 50 ⅌ hundred lbs. The stock at hand is short.

FEED—The season is now so far advanced that but little animation exists in this line of trade. The supply here is limited. We quote at $12@14 per ton for bran, $20@23 for chopped, middlings, etc., and $17@20 for shorts.

HAY—Receipts are small but supply the local trade fairly. We quote good baled timothy at $11@[illegible] ⅌ ton loose ditto $10@12

POTATOES—The receipts of the new crop are now large and prices are drooping both here and in the California markets where the fears of a general blight of the crop were feared a few weeks ago. We quote at $1 to $1 50 ⅌ hundred lbs.

ONIONS—Under increased receipts and abundant prospects of a large crop prices have dropped to 2c ⅌ lb

BACON—Market well supplied and quotations [illegible] at 9 cents ⅌ lb for Shoulders 10 to 11 cents for Sides and 14 to 16 cents for Hams

LARD—We quote good fresh Oregon in kegs and tins at 13@14 cents ⅌ lb

EGGS—The market is in better supply at lower rates than were given last week. The local trade is supplied at 15@18 cents ⅌ dozen, the former being about all shipments will bear

BUTTER—Receipts have slightly decreased and choice roll is firm at 20@22 cents ⅌ lb. Common lots are plentiful at prices ranging from 15 to 18 cents with an improved demand

CHICKENS—Spring Chickens of small size are [illegible] hand freely and selling at $[illegible]@3 25. Hens fat are worth $1 50 ⅌ dozen, mixed lots [illegible]

FRESH MEATS—The arrivals of cattle are better [illegible] weakening as yet in prices, which will probably not go as low as last year. Mutton sheep [illegible] at $2 50@3 ⅌ head

HIDES—Large shipments are made by each outgoing steamer. The demand here is fair at 15@16 [illegible] for choice dry 6@7 for green

WOOL—The market has shown a fair degree of [illegible] since our last report. Prices firm at 2[illegible]@28 [illegible] Oregon and 27@30 for valley. We notice [illegible] quotations 3,000 lbs Oregon fleeces at [illegible] terms and 2,000 lbs Oregon at 36c. The re[illegible] have been fair

RIPE FRUITS—Strawberries and Cherries are [illegible] at 5@6 cents ⅌ lb
